Subject Knowledge	In the subject knowledge translations row, you can see some letter 'n' in brackets (n). This is because this unit of content knowledge has some responses regarding plurals. Use 'me gusta' and 'me encanta' when you want to say you like or love a singular thing. If you want to say that you like or love a plural thing, add an 'n' to the end. 'Me gustan las uvas' translates to I like grapes and 'Me encantan las películas' is I love films. A pink 'F' refers to the feminine ending to a word (usually 'a'). A blue 'M' refers to the masculine ending to a word (usually 'o').

Activity ideas (Speaking and Listening must feature prominently in every year group)	Children could have the opportunity to say their name and age. Teacher to keep count of the amount of five-year-olds compared to six-year-olds. First three five-or-six-year-olds to say their name/age wins for their team.	Children to go on a 'greetings hunt' and greet children in their class, i.e. must find three boys who are six and three boys who are seven by asking and answering questions about their age.	Children to play snap / matching based on hobbies and interests and use this to begin to write some simple sentences, i.e. two children match pictures of listening to music and so must then write 'Escuchando música' (differentiated with vocab sheets where needed). If this unit is taught in the Summer term, children would be encouraged to write a sentence such as 'Me gusta Escuchando música.'	Children will need lots of speaking and listening time in lessons due to the content jump from Year 3 to Year 4 (it is expected that Year 3 content is also retained and used). Children could make an 'opinion scale' with negative preferences on the left and positive preferences on the right, i.e. 'Odio' and 'Horrible' would be strong negative preferences and would be on the far left; 'No me interesa' would be somewhere mid whilst 'Me encanta' and 'Fantastic' would be more on the right. Children could use this to frame their longer written work.	Use and write phrases like these from memory; adapt these to create new sentences in order to describe their appearance clearly.	Children could practise their descriptions with photographs of well-known celebrities or characters; other children could try to guess who they are. (Or, play a simple version of 'Guess Who?'). Experiment with longer and fuller sentences, using conjunctions (but, and, with, or) rather than having short, repetitive sentences that always start in the same way.

Subject Knowledge	When children are talking about their own personal family, encourage them to use the pronoun 'Mi' (My) and replace the two-letter word that precedes the noun in the translations above. For example, 'el padre' (father) would become 'mi padre' (my father). If talking more generally about moms, dads, relatives, etc., follow the translations above. 'El padre' and 'la madre' are quite formal. Younger children can be encouraged to use 'papá' (dad) and mamá (mum) to begin with if preferred. A pink 'F' refers to the feminine ending to a word (usually 'a,' or 'la' beginning). A blue 'M' refers to the masculine ending to a word (usually 'o,' or 'el' beginning).

Children have to recognise where the gap should be / what the right order should be and use this to write their own simple sentences.		For more able Year 5 children, depending on when you teach this content knowledge in the year, children could describe their family members. For example, 'Fui a el parque el domingo con mi hermano porque disfrutamos el deporte.' (I went to the park with my brother on Sunday because we enjoy sport).

Subject Knowledge	Days of the week and months of the year are always masculine and lower case. In Spanish, you don't say The third of May (for example). It translates to The three of May . The exception is for the first of the month where you can say, 'El primero de' or, 'El uno de.' To say the time, 'es' is used for one o'clock only. Every other time starts with 'son.'

Subject Knowledge	In the subject knowledge translations row, you can see some letter 'n' in brackets (n). This is because this unit of content knowledge has some responses regarding plurals. Use 'me gusta' and 'me encanta' when you want to say you like or love a singular thing. If you want to say that you like or love a plural thing, add an 'n' to the end. 'Me gustan las uvas' translates to I like grapes and 'Me encantan la patatas' is I love potatoes . A pink 'F' refers to the feminine ending to a word (usually 'a'). A blue 'M' refers to the masculine ending to a word (usually 'o').

There's a matching game and a memory game of fruit and veg.		Children could sort (by drawing/labelling) their preferences of foods/drinks into a table (or onto a continuum) and use this as aid for verbal speaking and listening of their likes/dislikes of food.		Children could make a 'going out meal' plate made up from their choice of starter, main and dessert. Children could label their food and write about what they liked/disliked (good opportunity to recap Y2).		Children could set up their own restaurant/café and take turns to order and place orders. Children could then apply this in writing, i.e. a sentence that is said by the waiter and a sentence that is said by the customer, etc.		Children could write a full set of recipe instructions, maybe based on their Design & Technology learning, class novel or favourite foods.		Building on Y5, children are expected to describe the food in their recipe as well as maybe use some adverbs.

Activity ideas (Speaking and Listening must feature prominently in every year group)	Children could have physical toys and verbally say the name of the transport in Spanish. More able readers can be pushed further to match the toys with labels.		This game is a simple match the word to the picture game. Good for fast recall.		Children could roll 2 dice: 1 with transport on and one with colours. Children must then put the rolls into verbal Spanish sentences and transfer these into writing.		Children could play a version of 'top trumps' whereby there is a superlative adjective that is the focus, i.e. fastest. Play a card (transport) that is fastest. If they win, they must verbally say it in Spanish to gain the point. Transfer into writing.		Children, when secure with comparative sentences, could be pushed onto using the conjunction 'pero' (but). For example: El helicóptero es mas grande que la coche pero la coche es mas grande en comparación con el la bicicleta.

Subject Knowledge	You don't translate the preposition 'on' at the start of dates in Spanish. So, for example, both On the third of May and The third of May would translate to 'el tres de mayo.' For Year 2, take care with the different verb forms of 'Está,' 'Hace' and 'Hay' that come before the description of the weather. It's important these match.

Children could label pictures of the weather with the simple sentences that they are focusing on. Cross-curricular link with Geography: children could describe the weather in the country they are studying.		For Years 3 and 4, because the expectation is that the children give a simple weather forecast, children will need plenty of opportunities to verbally practise the sentence constructions before taking it in turns to practise and present their forecasts. For progression, ensure that Year 4 children speak in extended sentences (i.e. In Birmingham 'en Birmingham,' etc. could be added) and use the specific dates from their 'Time' content knowledge.
